CHICARGUS, Nyasaland (UPI) — British-led African troops fired on a rioting mob outside the court house yesterday in a new flareup of violence in tense central Africa.

One African was killed and two wounded.

The 250 rioters tried to attack the court house to free two African National Congress officials who were on trial.

The troops tried to use tear gas to disperse the rioters, but the mob grew in size with the arrival of more demonstrators armed with sticks and iron bars.

Finally, the order was given to open fire. Only four rounds were fired.

Chicargus is near Blantyre, commercial capital of Nyasaland, where white settlers armed with .303 rifles accompanied police on street patrols last night to keep order.

A state of emergency in Southern Rhodesia held down demonstrations by Africans demanding independence.

But in Nyasaland, police squads were showered with stones by jeering demonstrators in the market place of Blantyre, where the violence first erupted last weekend.

More than 300 Africans shouting "Kwacha" (freedom) staged a rowdy demonstration in Zomba after two African women were acquitted of charges of illegal assembly.

DEW Line Secret Still on the Books

OTTAWA (CP)—Documents tabled Friday in the Commons show the Liberal government in 1955 ordered all information withheld on how much the U.S. was paying for the DEW radar line.

There was nothing to indicate the order has ever been rescinded although it was learned in 1956 that the U.S. financed the entire cost.

Ottawa Report

More Immigrants Likely This Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Fairclough Friday forecast that immigration in 1959 will exceed last year's intake of 124,851, wich was close to the post-war average of arrivals.

"Economic conditions now warrant a more optimistic approach to immigration planning for 1959," she said in the Commons.

However, she indicated there will be no relaxation of immigration restrictions imposed in July, 1957, in anticipation of serious winter unemployment.

J. W. Pickersgill, former immigration minister, said he doubts that the inflow this year will be heavier, regardless of any improvements in the economy.

OTTAWA (CP) — Works Minister Green says the government will not raise the six-per-cent interest rates on loans approved for housing construction under NHA.

Number of new housing units started in January this year was 4,790. This compared with 3,945 units in January, 1958, a 21.4-per-cent increase.

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will provide price support for B.C. peaches, it was announced yesterday.

The support will cover 1958 peaches used for processing and basic federal floor price will be $84.43 a ton.

Peg Wage To Output —Union

OTTAWA (CP)—The big United Steelworkers of America yesterday offered provisionally to have steel wages pegged to labor productivity and called on the government for an immediate investigation of steel prices.

The 75,000-member union, in a brief presented to Trade Minister Churchill, described its move as part of an anti-inflation program to be carried out with the co-operation of business and government.
